ARBITRAGE / THE CORE IDEA

One asset.

Different market prices.

Arbitrage seeks to capture a price difference by buying an asset in one market and selling it in another.

GROSS SPREAD	EXAMPLE COSTS	NET EXAMPLE
$1.50	$0.50	$1.00
Sell proceeds – purchase cost – execution costs = net result

Costs change the outcome

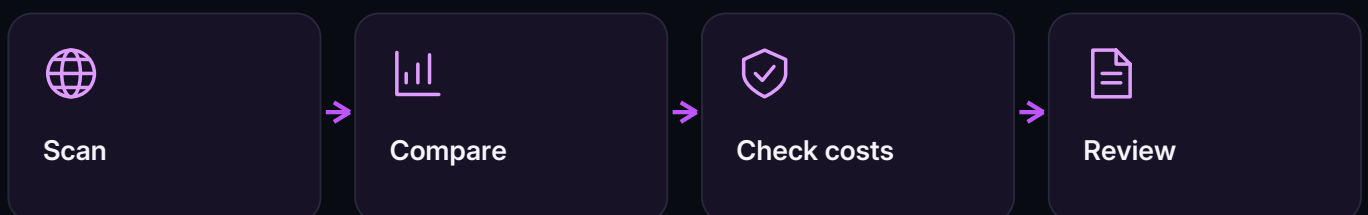

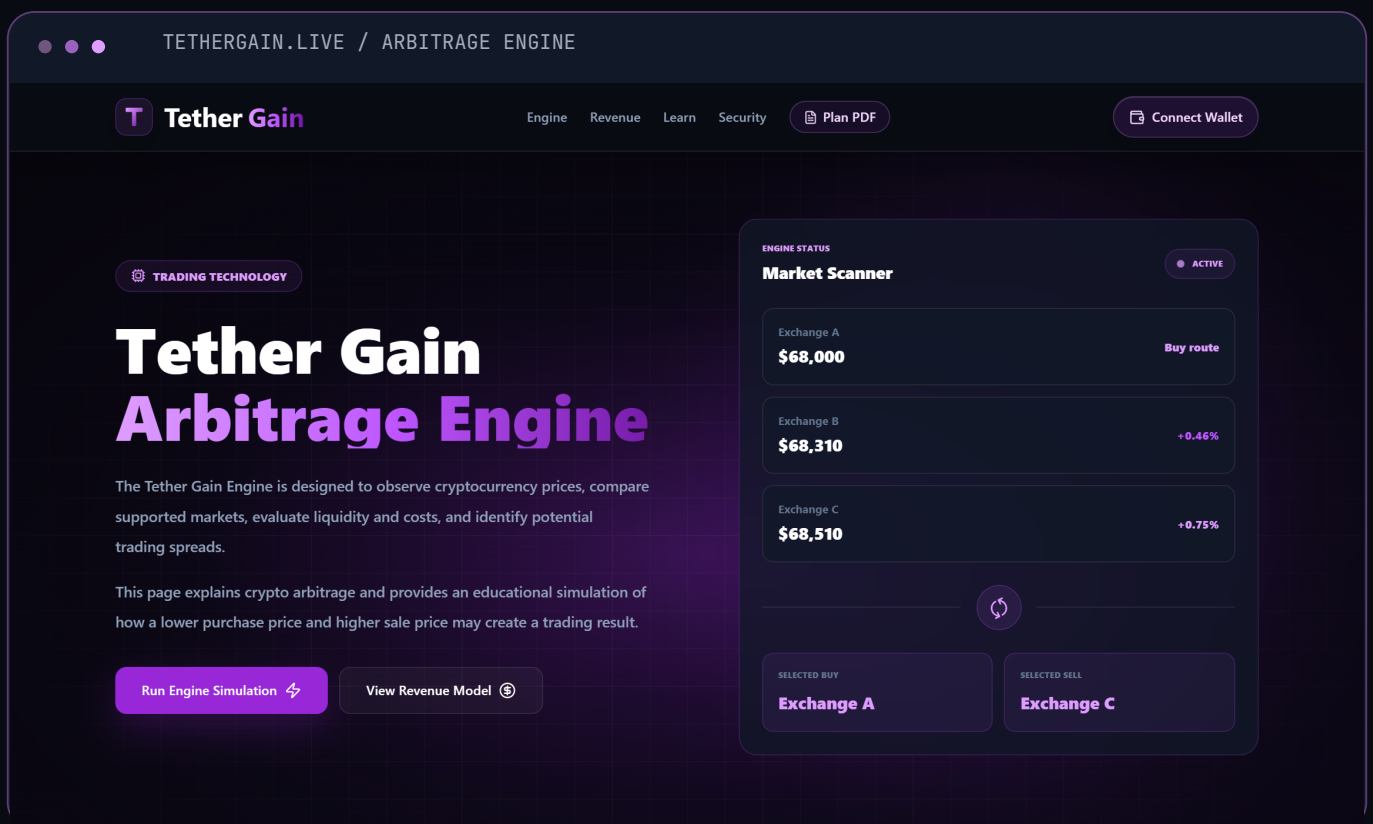

Trading fees, slippage, liquidity and execution delays can reduce or eliminate a spread. Prices and costs shown here are an educational example, not a live quote.

Observe. Compare.

Evaluate the opportunity.

The website explains price scanning, liquidity checks and the effect of costs through educational simulations.

Website simulation shown for explanation; it is not a record of executed trades.
